

2026–2027 pilot block-booking rates

We are particularly keen to support schools, universities and other educational groups undertaking residencies, field studies and research visits. We welcome repeat visits, extended stays and discussions about longer-term arrangements.

For the 2026–2027 academic year (September 2026 to August 2027), we are piloting discounted rates for longer bookings:

- 5 nights or more – 10% discount
- 10 nights or more – 12% discount
- 15 nights or more – 15% discount

The standard charge for exclusive use of the Centre is: £450 per night

These discounts are applied to the accommodation charge for the qualifying booking.

For universities and other organisations looking for a longer-term arrangement, for example, one or more days each week across the academic year, please contact us to discuss your requirements.

Example longer bookings

Based on the £450 nightly rate:

- 30 nights – £13,500 before discount; £12,150 with a 10% discount, saving £1,350
- 60 nights – £27,000 before discount; £23,760 with a 12% discount, saving £3,240

Longer-term bookings can provide a cost-effective base for fieldwork, research and teaching throughout the academic year.

We also welcome regular bookings from activity providers, adventure activity groups and clubs.

Activity and instructor options

The Roseland Centre provides a base from which groups can create their own programmes and explore the opportunities available across the Roseland Peninsula and wider Cornwall.

We can provide local information, suggested itineraries, recommendations and contacts to help groups plan their visit.

Specialist instruction, guided activities and outdoor experiences are not included in the Centre's accommodation package. Groups wishing to include these in their programme can book independent activity providers directly.

We have relationships with trusted local providers, including outdoor learning specialists and experienced group leaders, and can provide contact details and local recommendations where appropriate.

Activities may include canoeing and other outdoor experiences, allowing groups to make the most of the Centre's coastal setting.

2026–2027 example activity provider costs

As a guide, an outdoor learning or specialist land-based instructor may cost around £350 per day, depending on the provider, group size, activity and level of support required.

Canoeing costs start at £30 per person with a minimum charge of £600

This is an indicative figure only. Activity providers are independent organisations, and schools and other visiting groups arrange and pay for their services directly.

For example, a two-night educational visit could combine:

- Centre self catered accommodation: £900
- Two days of external specialist support (land-based instructor): approximately £700
- Accommodation and specialist support total: approximately £1,600

Catering and any additional activities would be charged separately.

This example is intended to help groups estimate the potential cost of a visit. Actual activity and instructor costs will vary according to the programme and provider.

We can provide local recommendations and contact details to help you explore suitable options when planning your visit.
